

Nancy Jensen – Sales Associate at Country Living Properties

Knowing the area well- having married and raised two children locally in addition to my knowledge of home design and construction from 20 years as manager of a building company gives me a unique perspective in real estate to list and show area homes. Whether giving sellers pointers on staging or offering detailed information to buyers- the people I work for, I believe, are well served- and service is what we here at Country Living Properties are all about.
